

The Little Book of Everton Haiku

A Poetic Celebration of the Toffees

The Little Book of Everton Haiku is a collection of poems that celebrate the history, players, and fans of Everton Football Club. The book is written in the traditional Japanese haiku form, which consists of three lines of five, seven, and five syllables, respectively. The haiku in the book capture the essence of Everton's rich history, from its humble beginnings to its present-day status as one of the most successful clubs in English football.

The book is divided into four sections, each of which focuses on a different aspect of Everton's history. The first section, "The Early Years," traces the club's origins from its foundation in 1878 to its first FA Cup win in 1906. The second section, "The Golden Era," celebrates Everton's greatest period of success, when the club won three league titles and two FA Cups in the 1980s and 1990s. The third section, "The Modern Era," focuses on Everton's more recent history, including the club's move to Goodison Park in 1892 and its financial struggles in the early 2000s. The fourth section, "The Fans," celebrates the passion and dedication of Everton's fans, who have supported the club through thick and thin.
